[They bow in rejoice and hug each other]

Crowd - Great! Great! Great!

Scene 2

Father under the tree at the backyard with his eldest son, five step away to each other while the son is sharpening a blade

[SOLILOQUIZING]

Scot - Ah ah, is it true? Just like that [with heavy breath].

Unbelievable that I am watching without doing anything. This is shit.... A big shit. [with anxiety]

Precious - [After a quick notice of his father's anxiety, fear and worry] Father I have been watching you some while ago and I noticed your worries. You are sad about something but I do not like seeing you this way I am seen you daddy.

Scot - Why I will not be sad? Is it not worth to cause me a great pain in heart which makes me sad? We are all in the palace when the king gave the 'Homeless' the 'Circle' to live, gave them power and authority. He called them his people, beloved and family. So, who are we? [Shaking head as if he wants to get answer to the rhetorical question] Is this good?

Precious - [heavy breathe as reaction to his father's saying]

Scot - You can not talk! [With worry] Now think yourself of this bad act. He did the worst but I will not let go and they will never live happily as he wants.

Call it jealous, I'm not happy about the decision king has made.

Ahh [said painfully]

Precious - Father! But you should have not take the matter up like this as he is the King and whatever he say is final conclusion in any discussion. Furthermore, he c .....

Scot - [As continuation to what Precious was about to say] He can what? One of Yoruba's adage says "Oun ti agbalagba ri lori ijoko; Ti omode ba nanga kole ri" You can not see what I am seeing about the future.

The people will be greater than us while we will remain here, serve Understanding forever and we will still serve the 'Homeless' people. Now that he made them one with him and building them as his family.

We are not loved the way he love them to give them the nicest place to live just like another kingdom they will rule themselves instead of turning them slaves under his rulling while we will also be able to control and labour them.

He only have their control and has powered them. We must do something!

Precious - Father [exclaimed]

Yes father. [supportedly]

Scot - That is my son! [As he is trying to understand him with his emotion] Now you spoke well

Precious - What are you thinking now we can do? [Worrior tense]

Scot - An issue leads to problem, problem leads to worry, fear and anxiety which causes confusion.

Precious - One man once said that "when you are confused, pray for light; further confusion means everything must be committed into God's hands" This is the state we are.

Scot - And this is the reason I am more sad. I do not know what action to take now that is going to let things go as I am wanting.

Precious - Something crossed my mind as I was thinking of what to do. But hun em em.....

Scot - Speak son!

Precious - But he warned them.

Scot - Yes not to listen or take any other instruction that did not come directly from his mouth. If not, I would have gather some warrior and put an end to everything by a great attack on them but that is not possible because Understanding protects their land for them as promised but proceed to what you were about to say for solution.

Precious - It may be helpful idea and might not but what if we follow the words of leaving everything to God as I quoted early?

Scot - Fear! And being lazy to secure your future.

[As Precious tends to speak more] Okay, move on son I am listening to hear better talk.

Precious - Let us visit them with gifts as if we are congratulating them for their new blessings. We will meet their elders, we are going to try and gain one's heart among them so that they can fall in to disobey Understand and possible for us to turn them against each other as spirit of hatred will manifest.

Father! Believe, outcome of this is their total destruction.

Tell them. King put them in the circle just to labour hard and will put an end to their existence when the beauty of the land have come out.

If you go as a messiah. Telling them as a secret with the kind of relationship we would have created, you will totally be trusted while they will lost trust for each other.

Scot - Truth! Fear and anxiety will come to manifestation and ruin their present happiness.

This is perfect setting that is going to bring them down.

Good and I call you wise my son.

Precious - You trained me well at everything father.

'Nothing' and they must be destroyed before they take over 'Something'

Crowd - Great is Understanding!

Understanding - Let us start to make preparation because it is all happening tonight!

[ASIDE]

Scot - This call my attention to an open opportunity of bringing down Understanding for shame he wanted to put us from generation to generation, forever under him rulling.
So, It is high time that we will hand him over to the people of 'Nothing'
